I have lived in Redding since 1957. I have fished the Sacramento River here in Redding before and after the Red Bluff dam was built. Before the dam in Red Bluff was built you could go down to the Posse Grounds here in Redding and see salmon spawning 365 days of the year. After the dam was built the salmon weren't spawning here any more.

Several years ago there were several thousand dollars spent trying to find out why the salmon weren't here any more. At that time I said that they could have asked any fisherman and got the answer for free! It was the Red Bluff dam that stopped the fish spawning in Redding.

Before the dam was built there must have been public meetings during which there was discussion about the dam. I imagine that the people that were for the dam believed that the dam wouldn't hurt the fish at all. How wrong!

It seems to me that the people that want the dam are the people that make money off the races that they have every year. I don't think they care a whit whether there are any fish in the river or not as long as they fill their pockets. It's a sad state of affairs when the people can let this beautiful country deteriorate as long as they can satisfy their greed.

You can put me down for one vote to do away with the Red Bluff dam.

FISH PASSAGE IMPROVEMENT PROJECT AT THE RED BLUFF DIVERSION DAM, TEHAMA-COLUSA CANAL AUTHORITY, STATE CLEARING HOUSE No. # 2002042075

We have reviewed the Draft Environmental Impact Statement/Environmental Impact Report (EIS/EIR) for the Fish Passage Improvement Project at the Red Bluff Diversion Dam. The objective of the Fish Passage Improvement Project is to improve the ability of fish to pass through the Red Bluff Diversion Dam, while supplying sufficient water to the Tehama-Colusa and Corning canals. The Draft EIS/EIR compares five alternatives against existing conditions as well as the no action alternative. We have the following comments regarding this project.

GENERAL PERMITTING REQUIREMENTS

- Storm Water Permits. In order to protect water quality during construction activities, appropriate storm water pollution controls will be required during construction. If construction activities result in a land disturbance of five or more acres, the project will need to be covered under the General Construction Storm Water Permit (Order No.99-08-DWQ). If construction activities result in a land disturbance between one and five acres, the project will need to be covered under a Small Construction Storm Water Permit. This permit is effective March 2003. Both permits require that a Storm Water Pollution Prevention Plan (SWPPP) be prepared prior to construction activities. The SWPPP is used to identify potential pollutants (such as sediment and earthen materials, chemicals, building materials, etc...) and to describe best management practices that will be employed at the site to eliminate or reduce those pollutants from entering surface waters. For a storm water permitting package, please contact Scott Zaitz of the Regional Water Quality Control Board office in Redding [(530) 224-4784].
- 404 Permit and Water Quality Certification. The project proponent may also need to apply for a 404 permit from the US Army Corps of Engineers and a 401 water quality certification from the State Water Resources Control Board. The Federal 404 permit is required for activities involving a discharge (such as fill or dredged material) to waters of the United States. "Waters" include wetlands, riparian zones, streambeds, rivers, lakes, and oceans. Typical activities include any modifications to these waters, such as stream crossings, stream bank modifications, filling of wetlands, etc. These projects also require a water quality certification (per Section 401 of the Clean Water Act) verifying that the project does not violate State water quality standards. The 404 permit and water quality certification must be obtained prior to disturbance. The Army Corps of Engineers contact for Tehama County is Matt Kelley [(916) 557-7724]. The water quality certification application can be obtained from Scott Zaitz of the Regional Water Quality Control Board office in Redding [(530) 224-4784].

- Dewatering Permit. A dewatering permit (Order No. 5-00-175, General Order for Dewatering and Other Low Threat Discharges) may be required for dewatering discharges associated with this project. The dewatering permit is required for the removal of water from excavations, cofferdams, diversions, areas of ponding, etc. that is eventually discharged to a storm drain or surface watercourses. Typical pollutants of concern associated with construction dewatering are settleable material, suspended material, and turbidity. However, this project may involve dewatering activities in the area of the Pactiv Corporation Class III Landfill, and additional constituents of concern above and beyond those normally encountered during most construction projects may be present and affect options for discharging accumulated water. Approval to discharge water accumulated through the dewatering project will be based on laboratory analysis and proper waste characterization. See the discussion below regarding potential impacts associated with construction near the Pactiv Corporation Class III Landfill. For a Notice of Intent (application form), please contact Scott Zaitz of the Regional Water Quality Control Board office in Redding [(530) 224-4784].
- Aboveground Petroleum Storage. The Aboveground Petroleum Storage Act requires owners or operators of aboveground petroleum storage tanks to file a storage statement and pay a fee for single petroleum tanks that store greater than 660 gallons or facilities with a cumulative storage capacity of greater than 1,320 gallons of petroleum. In addition, a Spill Prevention Control and Countermeasures plan must be prepared and implemented. For additional information, please contact Heidi Bauer of the Regional Water Quality Control Board office in Redding [(530) 224-4996].

POTENTIAL IMPACTS FROM PROXIMITY OF PROJECT TO CLASS III LANDFILL

Each alternative evaluated in the EIS/EIR indicates that construction of the pump station will occur at the Pactiv Corporation mill site. Our understanding of this proposed project is that construction of the pump station will occur on a portion of the Pactiv Corporation Class III Landfill located adjacent to the Sacramento River. Construction of the pump station would require excavation of buried wastes in the landfill. Industrial activities at this site date back to the early 20th century and records are not available regarding the types of wastes buried in the landfill before the Pactiv Corporation purchased the site.

Groundwater beneath the Pactiv Corporation Class III Landfill is greatly influenced by the operation of the Red Bluff Diversion Dam. When the gates are closed, groundwater elevations rise and the flow direction is towards the west. Under these conditions, groundwater may contact wastes in the bottom of the landfill, affecting water quality in the area. When the gates are open, groundwater elevations lower changing the flow direction to the north. This also affects the landfill's Point of Compliance and changes which monitoring well is designated as the down-gradient well. Recent groundwater monitoring data from the landfill indicates that down-gradient wells have statistically significant elevated concentrations of alkalinity, bicarbonate, calcium, chemical oxygen demand, conductivity, dissolved organic carbon, total Kjeldahl nitrogen, magnesium, manganese, potassium, sodium, tannins and lignans, and total dissolved solids when compared to up-gradient wells. These conditions may be an indicator that waste disposal activities may have impacted water quality in the area of the landfill.

A site investigation conducted by CH2M Hill during first half of 2002 found layers of burn ash mixed with paper pulp waste produced by Pactiv Corporation. The burn ash may contain hazardous concentrations of metals. The burn ash was not characterized for dioxins. Additionally, one drum of liquid waste was encountered during the investigation and one sample of the pulp wastes identified chromium above State hazardous waste action levels.

The EIR did not disclose the amount of waste to be excavated during the project. No discussion was included regarding how the proposed project will affect the existing groundwater monitoring network. No discussion was provided regarding waste characterization or disposal options for the excavated wastes. Wastes that have been excavated from the landfill may not be allowed to go back into the remaining portion of the unlined landfill. Final disposal options for excavated wastes will depend on characterization of the materials removed from the fill. Depending on the disposal option selected, additional evaluation under CEQA may be required. The EIS/EIR should provide a more thorough evaluation and discussion regarding waste removal, characterization, and disposal options.

SPECIFIC PACTIV NPDES ISSUES

The discharge of wastewater from Pactiv Corporation's pulp mill to the Sacramento River and the discharge of industrial storm water from Pactiv Corporation's property to Red Bank Creek are regulated under Waste Discharge Requirement Order No. 98-127. This National Pollutant Discharge Elimination System (NPDES) Permit No. CA0004821 will expire on 1 June 2003. To continue discharging, Pactiv Corporation is required to submit an application for permit renewal by 1 December 2002. It will be Pactiv Corporation's responsibility to describe their current and future operations, as well as any forecasted changes in operations that may or may not affect their permit conditions. Any significant changes in their operating conditions (such as changes in effluent quality, discharge flow rate, treatment processes, or discharge locations) must be evaluated under the CEQA process before a revised or renewed NPDES permit can be adopted by our Regional Board.

Under each alternative, the proposed footprint of the pump station intersects Pactiv Corporation's wastewater discharge outfall to the Sacramento River. The EIS/EIR should acknowledge this, and evaluate other discharge options and potential environmental impacts. The project proponent may want to consider integrating Pactiv's discharge outfall, as well as a diffuser, into the pump station design. Note that discharge of process wastewater to Red Bank Creek would likely not be permitted because flow in Red Bank Creek is intermittent. Additionally, discharge of Pactiv Corporation's wastewater to the Tehama-Colusa canal would likely result in more stringent effluent limitations in Pactiv Corporation's NPDES permit due to the limited dilution provided by the canal in the winter months.

It is our understanding that construction of the Fish Passage Improvement project will begin no earlier than 2004. While it is possible for Pactiv Corporation's NPDES permit to be renewed before construction (i.e. renewal based only on current operating conditions), it would be advantageous to all parties if Pactiv Corporation's NPDES permit renewal application reflected proposed operating conditions during and after construction. The application should also consider changes in industrial storm water runoff conditions that would result.

Page 3-106, Groundwater Quality. The first sentence, "Groundwater quality is generally excellent in the region," is misleading and the last statement, "No evidence of nitrates... has been found in the groundwater in Red Bluff," needs to be corrected.

In the developed portions of the Antelope Boulevard area, 2¼ miles north of the Red Bluff Diversion Dam, nitrates have been measured above the MCL in shallow (to 30 ft bgs) and intermediate (to 60 ft bgs) monitoring wells as well as in domestic wells. The California Department of Water Resources (DWR) in Red Bluff is currently conducting a nitrate sampling program of domestic wells. Initial results indicate nitrates were measured above half the MCL (22.5 mg/L) in 30 percent of domestic wells samples, and at or above the MCL (45 mg/L) in 15 percent of the wells sampled. Initial results also suggest that the extent of nitrate groundwater contamination is affected by Red Bluff Diversion Dam operations. Results of the four sampling events performed this year will be published by DWR in January 2003.

Re: Draft Environmental Impact Statement/
Environmental Impact Report For the Fish Passage
Improvement Project At the Red Bluff Diversion Dam

Dear Mr. Bullock and Mr. Stodolski:

This office represents the City of Red Bluff in matters related to the proposed Fish Passage Improvement Project at the Red Bluff Diversion Dam ("Project"). The purpose of this letter is to request a thirty (30) day extension in the comment period for the Draft Environmental Impact Statement/Environmental Impact Report ("DEIS/EIR") for the Project.

} 299-1

There are many reasons for this request. Most simply, the DEIS/EIR is very voluminous and contains a great deal of technical information which simply requires a substantial amount of time to review and analyze, in order to provide meaningful comments.

In addition, the DEIS/EIR relies on technical data and studies which are not included in the DEIS/EIR or its appendices. Our biological consultant, Mr. David Vogel, has had some difficulty in retrieving the technical information relied on in the DEIS/EIR. Of course, in order to accomplish a thorough review of the DEIS/EIR and its analysis, it is also necessary to review the technical data upon which the DEIS/EIR relies. The California Environmental Quality Act ("CEQA") requires that technical data relied on "be readily available for public examination." (CEQA Guidelines §15147.)

299-1 The comment period was extended as requested.

299-2 It is assumed that the "technical" data that the commentor refers to are the working files of the Fishtastic! analysis model including its internal data sets. At Mr. Vogel's request, an operating copy of this analysis methodology and its files were forwarded to him for his use in his critique.

No. 299

- 299-3 See Response to Comment 299-1.
- 299-4 The request to extend the public review period was granted by TCCA, and Reclamation concurred. The public review and comment period was extended to November 30, 2002.

Arthur R. Bullock
 Max Stodolski
 September 24, 2002
 Re: City of Red Bluff -
 Fish Passage Improvement Project
 Page 2

In addition, it is clear that there were some substantial problems in printing and distributing the DEIS/EIR after it supposedly became available for public comment. Many persons, including the undersigned, did not receive their requested copies of the DEIS/EIR for several days. This is also true for the copy of the DEIS/EIR requested by Mr. Vogel. In addition, CD versions of the document were not available until the week of September 9. Contrary to public notices in the newspaper, the DEIS/EIR was not available on the Internet until approximately September 13, 2002. There are also apparently problems with the on-line ordering process for a CD version of the document.

} 299-3

Finally, the sheer importance and magnitude of the proposed Project, and its potential or probable impacts, require that the public be given ample opportunity to review and evaluate the DEIS/EIR, and comment thereon. "Public participation is an essential part of the CEQA process." (CEQA Guidelines §15201.) Public agencies are required to provide processes "for wide public involvement, formal and informal, . . . in order to receive and evaluate public reactions to environmental issues related to the agency's activities." (Id.) "Public review provides the dual purpose of bolstering the public's confidence in the agency's decision and providing the agency with information from a variety of experts and sources." (Schoen v California Dept. of Forestry, 58 Cal.App.4th 556, 574 (1997))

} 299-4

On behalf of the City of Red Bluff, and other interested parties and participants in this process, we request a thirty (30) day extension in the comment period in order to allow a full and fair opportunity for the public to submit detailed comments regarding this important project.

Thank you for your consideration in this regard. If you have any comments or questions, please contact me.

Very truly yours,

Dear Sir,

I believe the Red Bluff Diversion Dam should be removed completely. The river has silted up so much behind the Dam, that in only a matter of time there is going to be a terrible flood in the now heavily residential Antelope Area. I can recall that in only 5 or 6 years after the Dam was completed that Dog Island was almost gone. You can stand at the Park in Red Bluff and see for yourself at least ten feet of loam and gravel that has built up over the years since the Dam was built. All that silt is going to replace water volume space. There just isn't room for water in a flood. There is plenty of recreation around. Agriculture can use pumps. The fish industry in

Dear Mr. Bullock,

I am sorry that I cannot attend the meeting scheduled for Wednesday, September 25, 2002. I was delighted to see this form included in the flyer for expressly this purpose. I hope that by making it easy for people to get involved, that you have an overwhelming response.

I feel that this is a very important topic for the north state area. Lake Red Bluff not only adds recreational and economic aspects to Red Bluff, but it is quite beautiful and I would sorely miss the lovely sight. I do not fully understand the fish and wildlife habitats concerning the lake, but I do believe that the north state needs fish and wildlife kept in the north state. To accomplish this, we need the water to keep the habitat.

I sincerely hope that my letter counts for something, and that we as concerned citizens can accomplish the preservation of Lake Red Bluff.

Subject: FISH PASSAGE IMPROVEMENT PROJECT AT THE RED BLUFF DIVERSION DAM

After reviewing the Draft EIS/EIR for the fish passage project and having attended the public hearing on September 25, 2002, I have the following comments:

No specific project proposed. Although some people at the public hearing suggested that the lead agencies had already made up their collective minds as to which alternative they are proposing to implement, and that it is a bad thing to do so, my experience with the EIS/EIR process is that a specific project must be proposed up front in order for the project evaluation to move forward in a timely way. There is no specific, proposed project here. It is highly questionable that a set of alternatives satisfies the CEQA requirement for a proposed project. Section 15126.6(a) requires that consideration and discussion of alternatives to the proposed project shall be included in an EIR.

The Draft EIS/EIR of August 2002 states that the TCCA Board has chosen the 12-month gates-out alternative – but not really. The Bureau of Reclamation has publically not chosen a preferred project and all other agencies and parties to the project have indicated their preference based on their special interests. This just creates confusion and does not provide a baseline for evaluation of the project or the alternatives.

As this project unfolds, it is troublesome that without a specific proposed project, the whole decision process, as to which alternative to implement, is left until the very end, after the EIS/EIR process is completed and/or without public hearings and accountability for the decision.

No costs included for the alternatives in the draft EIS/EIR. If costs are included in the analyses, the relative merit of the alternatives may change. For example, regarding the 12-month gates-out alternative (Alternative 3), it is stated that no mitigation is available to lessen the socioeconomic impacts to Lake Red Bluff (Table ES-4). Several mitigation measures are available and should be discussed and their costs evaluated. The costs of removal of the existing dam and related structures as mitigation must be included. Also, dredging of the "gravel bar" on the right side of the river from the Antelope Boulevard bridge to south of Reeds Creek and restoration of the boat ramp facilities at the city park must be discussed, including cost. Other mitigating landscaping costs must also be discussed. If the fisheries science is strong enough to support the imposition of the significant environmental impacts associated with the 12-month gates-out alternative, then the gates-out should be permanent and the dam should be removed.

- 304-3 Alternatives may not be rejected merely because they are beyond an agency's authority, would require new implementing legislation, or would be too costly (CEQA Section 15126.6(b)).

- 304-4 The findings of the analysis of the impacts to anadromous salmonids and other fish species are stated in the EIS/EIR. From this analysis, it is clear that the operations of the RBDD gates can, depending of the time of year, adversely affect both adult and juvenile lifestages of many fish attempting to pass RBDD.

} 304-4

Adaptive Management Program. The inclusion and implementation of the Adaptive Management Program makes sense in order to study the fish passage after project construction. What it suggests, however, is that the fisheries science driving the project is weak. So weak, in fact, that considering the many significant impacts associated with the project (particularly the 12-month gates-out alternative) there is not sufficient basis at this time to warrant the implementation of any changes at the Red Bluff Diversion Dam or its operation. I believe that it would be better for the various agencies involved to pool their money and develop a research grant to a university to do the necessary research on fish migration to better understand the true benefits that might be expected from a Fish Passage Improvement Project at the Red Bluff Diversion Dam.

The impacts are way to great to be proceeding with any drastic changes at this time. You need to do the science first to more clearly establish the benefits to be expected and to clearly define a specific project.
